

Dear Members,

Almost 40 years ago, visionary philosopher and educator Marshall McLuhan predicted that everyone would have their own television channel. And he was right. My daughter just bought a video iPod on which she can watch Alicia Keys perform her latest hit; our Chicago Tonight producers can access breaking news, weather and traffic updates, anytime and anywhere, on their laptops; 33,000 people a month are listening to an online stream of 98.7WFMT; and 25,000 viewers a month are watching WTTW programs on demand. More and more of my colleagues are e-mailing me from their Blackberries. Even my Starbucks experience is high-tech; now I get a free downloadable Joni Mitchell tune with my latte, and Paul McCartney released his last CD exclusively through the coffee chain. And then there is YouTube—a place where everyone is a producer with the perfect medium to air their creations, in perpetuity. With today's technology, we truly are the masters of our own media domain. We can get content when, where, and how we want it.

Only a few years ago, my friends in public broadcasting were concerned about competing with 500 cable stations. Well, I'm proud to say that public broadcasting is holding its own. It still reigns... unique and distinctive.

In spite of our current funding challenges, WTTW had a phenomenal 2007. Highlights include the national launch of our first PBS children's series WordWorld, a lively animated program which brings words alive for children ages 3 to 5; WTTW National Productions produced David Broza at Masada: The Sunrise Concert with Jackson Browne and Shawn Colvin, our first international high-definition broadcast, shot in southern Israel; we were one of the first public television stations in America to add the Spanish-language channel V-me to our roster; 98.7WFMT launched its international streaming service for classical music listeners around the world; and our WTTW production team complemented the 14-hour epic miniseries The War: A Ken Burns Film with a compelling series of personal reminiscences from local World War II veterans. Their profoundly moving stories aired around episodes of the series, as a stand-alone program, and were posted in a special section of our website. In the fourth quarter, we cut the ribbon of the Alexandra C. and John D. Nichols Production Operations Center. In fact, with three digital channels up and running (WTTWD, V-me and Create), we are exceptionally well prepared for the February 2009 deadline for digital conversion. And our Early Childhood Learning workshops, community outreach initiatives, and partnerships with Chicago's leading cultural, educational, and philanthropic institutions are stronger than ever.

As you glance through this Annual Report, please be assured that there isn't a day that goes by that we don't appreciate your generous support. We simply couldn't produce award-winning programming if it weren't for you. We are also deeply grateful to our committed Board of Trustees, corporate partners, and foundations that have supported us.

And in closing, I'd like to thank our departing Executive Vice President of Development, Farrell Frentress, for nearly a decade of leadership, dedication, and inspiration. Enjoy your retirement—we will miss you!

Daniel J. Schmidt
President & CEO

Chicago's premier public television station reaches two million viewers a week—the largest public television audience in the nation. With a strong combination of local and national productions, WTTW11 is proud to present public affairs, performing and visual arts, nature, science, and how-to programming, and offers a rich and diverse children's schedule. Although our primary focus has always been uniquely local, we continue to produce award-winning programs for national and international audiences.

Our media organization now provides quality programming over four distinct channels—WTTW11, WTTWD, Create, and V-me.

WTTWD was the first Chicago station to have a separate schedule of high-definition and widescreen programming.

Create provides the very best in national “how-to” programming.

V-me, launched in March, is the first Spanish-language public television channel in the country.

Network Chicago Guide

The Guide, the monthly magazine for WTTW and WFMT members, continues to serve our most loyal supporters with comprehensive monthly program listings for WTTW11 and 98.7WFMT and highlights for our multicast television services—WTTWD, Create, and our newest Spanish-language station, V-me. Inside The Guide, members will also find a roundup of WTTW and WFMT events and monthly membership offers, a letter to readers from President Dan Schmidt, and quick reference features like the Kid Grid and Month At-A-Glance.

wttw.com and wfmt.com

Over the past year, wttw.com and wfmt.com evolved into strong companion sites to their on-air broadcast counterparts. In addition to real-time program schedules for WFMT and WTTW's four channels, the sites invite users to explore interactive content including more video and audio content than ever—behind-the-scenes areas and producer blogs, games and contests (for kids and adults); web exclusive member benefits and events calendars; message boards; detailed program information; and online shopping and donation capabilities.

On wfmt.com, 2007 marked the launch of a new, enhanced, and free online streaming service for 98.7WFMT (wfmt.com/streaming), a new WFMT premium on-demand listening archive, and other multimedia areas for podcasts and WFMT staff blogs. On wttw.com, visitors found redesigned microsites for WTTW local productions including Chicago Tonight, Check, Please!, and Geoffrey Baer's ongoing tour series; and discovered WTTW's new national productions sites for David Broza at Masada: The Sunrise Concert, and WordWorld. For The War: A Ken Burns Film, WTTW also launched a local site for veterans to share their stories about the Second World War by uploading their text, photos, audio, and video onto the site. New stories were also added to wttw.com/arts, the searchable database of more than 100 multimedia "stories" about the arts in Illinois. This robust microsite guides users—searching by various criteria including keyword, arts subject or discipline, and geographic region—through rich narrative, stunning photography, and hundreds of video clips available on-demand or via podcast.

WTTW Broadcast Map

Every week, WTTW11 reaches more than two million viewers in four states: Illinois, Michigan, Indiana, and Wisconsin. Nearly 85 percent of Chicago households tune in at least once a month. 98.7WFMT also serves a four-state broadcast area and is available worldwide through an internet streaming service.

V-me Preview

Trustees, staff and friends of WTTW gathered at the Frontera Grill restaurant in Chicago on February 26 for a sneak preview of V-me, the nation's first Spanish-language public television network. V-me is the fourth channel of unique programming presented by WTTW11.

ScienceNow!

On March 19, WTTW and the Adler Planetarium co-hosted ScienceNow!, a discussion on science education and literacy with renowned astrophysicist Dr. Neil deGrasse Tyson, host of the PBS series NOVA ScienceNow.

Lunch & Learn

Chicago Tonight correspondent Christian Farr was the featured speaker at the annual Lunch & Learn event held at the WTTW studios on March 29. Guests enjoyed a behind-the-scenes tour of the studios and an engaging presentation by Farr, who talked about stories he has covered during his more than 10 years of working in television news.

Celebrate the American Song

Ann Hampton Callaway and very special guest Liza Minnelli lit up the stage at the WTTW11/98.7WFMT Celebrate the American Song gala, which drew more than 350 people to the Northwest Side studios on May 10. Guests at the fundraiser were treated to incredible performances from the multi-talented artists, recorded as part of a new public television series pilot, Singer's Spotlight with Ann Hampton Callaway.

Taste of Check, Please!

More than 500 people came to the WTTW studios to sample the cuisine of 30 diverse restaurants at Taste of Check, Please!, the fourth annual celebration of the popular weekly series. The May 18 event was hosted by Master Sommelier Alpana Singh, and also offered wonderful music from The Orbert Davis Quintet, Mi Peru, the Miguel Nuño trio, and flamenco dancers Los Chocولات.

Arts Across Illinois: CenterStage

A variety of outstanding music, dance, and poetry was presented on Arts Across Illinois: CenterStage, the annual performance special broadcast live from WTTW's Grainger Studio. The June 21 program aired as part of the Arts Across Illinois series, which is made possible by the Illinois Arts Council and features artists, arts organizations, and community groups supported by the state agency.

The War Preview

In July, friends of WTTW had the opportunity to meet filmmaker Ken Burns at two preview events at Northern Trust Bank and the Chicago History Museum for his epic mini-series The War: A Ken Burns Film. Burns and his co-producer and director Lynn Novick shared fascinating stories from the creation of the World War II documentary, which aired to widespread acclaim on WTTW in September and October.

Chicago Tonight Meet and Greet

A special Chicago Tonight Meet and Greet event drew an enthusiastic group of viewers to the WTTW studios on July 26, where they mingled with the hosts, correspondents, and behind-the-scenes staff of the nightly public affairs series.

Fun and Run

Elmo, Grover, and Curious George were just a few of the popular characters that could be found at the WTTWKids Fun and Run, which drew more than 5,000 children and adults to Chicago's Lincoln Park on August 26. The family event featured a 3K walk/5K run, games, activities, music from the acclaimed group Wee Hairy Beasties, and much more.

Jim Lehrer Events

Jim Lehrer, the Executive Editor and Anchor of The NewsHour with Jim Lehrer met with friends of WTTW at two special events held on October 11, at which he shared fascinating stories from his journalism career and signed copies of his new novel, Eureka. The gatherings took place at the Union League Club of Chicago and at the home of Nina Donnelley and Trustee Jim Donnelley.

Nichols Production Center

In October, The Production Operations Center at the WTTW studios was named in honor of Alexandra C. and John D. Nichols. The Nichols' made a special gift in support of the Center, which houses new digital technology used in the production of programs.

WFMT Donor Appreciation Event

An evening of harpsichord music drew more than 125 members of the WFMT Fine Arts Circle to the 2007 Donor Appreciation Event on May 30. The annual gathering at the University Club of Chicago included a performance from acclaimed Chicago keyboard artist David Schrader, who treated the audience to varied works from the Renaissance and Early Baroque periods.

WFMT Summer Concert

Robin and Richard Colburn generously hosted a WFMT event that featured performances from alumni of the Ravinia Festival's prestigious Steans Institute for Young Artists. The June 29 gathering was attended by a group of WFMT donors, who heard a variety of vocal selections from opera to musical theater.

98.7WFMT Folk Festival Benefit Concert

WFMT's second annual Folk Festival Benefit Concert drew an impressive line-up of musicians to Chicago's Harris Theatre for Music and Dance on September 9. A lively audience of folk music fans heard performances from John Flynn, Susan Werner, Richard Shindell, Tanglefoot, and other popular artists.

Exploring Music with Bill McGlaughlin...LIVE!

WFMT listeners had the opportunity to meet the host of the popular radio series Exploring Music with Bill McGlaughlin at the Merit School of Music on October 17. The program featured performances from Merit School students and commentary by Bill McGlaughlin.

One of WTTW11's most important goals is to enhance the messages and themes of our programming through face-to-face interaction with our audience. Our community events, workshops, and screenings venture beyond the television screen and establish relationships with partner organizations. A few notable examples from the past year include:

NOVA: Marathon Challenge

To commemorate the 30th anniversary of the Chicago Marathon, WTTW hosted a screening of NOVA: Marathon Challenge for 400 viewers at the Ryan Family Pavilion at Northwestern University. This extraordinary documentary went behind the scenes with 13 novice runners as they trained for their first marathon. Partnering with NOVA and Fleet Feet Sports, the screening event helped WTTW connect with a younger viewing audience, while capitalizing on Chicago's longtime relationship with the sport of long distance running.

Outreach for Families and Children

9th Annual Latino Book and Family Festival

This year, WTTW and V-me participated in the 9th Annual Latino Book and Family Festival, which attracted more than 15,000 participants. Participating were dance troupes, Latino celebrities, and award-winning journalists who discussed their latest books. WTTW and V-me provided free books to children and entertained family members of all ages with Jim De La Luna (Jim from the Moon), a walk-around character from the show of the same name. Families were also treated to a preview of V-me's wide range of programming, including WTTW's locally-produced Ventana a Chicago.

No More Bullies Initiative

At the start of the new school year, 364 Chicago public elementary schools received booklets and DVDs from WTTW's No More Bullies initiative. Developed in partnership with the Children's Brain Research Foundation, this material contains useful information for parents, teachers, and children about how to combat bullying.

The Zula Patrol: Under the Weather

In June, WTTW Kids held a special event at the Adler Planetarium, where guests were treated to a screening of The Zula Patrol: Under the Weather; were greeted by walk-around characters from the series, Multo, Bula, and Zeeter; and explored The Zula Patrol: Mission Weather exhibit, designed to develop youngsters' curiosity about the earth's weather. In addition, WTTW's Early Learning Initiative invited PBS outreach professionals from Midwest stations to participate in a Zula Patrol outreach conference. Members of the Zula Patrol Education Team demonstrated how PBS outreach professionals could incorporate basic concepts of science and astronomy into their parent/teacher community workshops.

WTTW Kids Scout Tour Day

Approximately 250 Girl and Boy Scouts and their chaperones were treated to an exciting educational tour of the WTTW studios, a special opportunity for scouts to learn about careers in media and how WTTW programs are produced. Each Scout received a Scout Tour Day patch for attending.
