August 2019

ALSO INSIDE
On WFMT, we'll welcome the return of The New York Philharmonic This Week, hosted by Alec Baldwin and, with back-to-school season right around the corner, visit wfmt.com for music that will help boost any study session, and get tips to take care of your treasured classical music LPs.
Dear Member,

This month, as the Summer of Space continues, WTTW takes you back to a seismic event in popular music that happened 50 years ago this month: an outdoor festival that attracted half a million people to a dairy farm in upstate New York. Join us for Woodstock: Three Days that Defined a Generation, an examination of the tumultuous decade that culminated in this defining moment of the counterculture revolution.

Also on WTTW, in advance of the highly anticipated feature film premiering next month, join us for Downton Abbey Live! as actors and producers from the popular series take your questions live from New York City in front of a studio audience. On wttw.com, immerse yourself in Chicago's jazz community and history as Chicago Jazz Festival approaches; and introduce a new generation of pioneering science fiction writers after Ursula K. Le Guin's American Masters episode.

On WFMT, the 2019 Grant Park Music Festival comes to a conclusion with Gustav Mahler’s Symphony No. 2, subtitled Resurrection; two Ryan Opera Center alums, J’Nai Bridges and Amanda Majeski, will be featured. Join us on Facebook Live before each concert for interviews and behind-the-scenes content. And with back-to-school season right around the corner, visit wfmt.com for music that will help boost any study session, and get tips to take care of your treasured classical music LPs.

As you enjoy the rest of the summer in Chicago, WTTW and WFMT are grateful for your support.

Sincerely,

Sandra Cordova Micek
President & CEO

WTTW Kids BIG IDEA Traveling Lab

The WTTW Kids BIG IDEA Traveling Lab comes to Hawthorn Mall in Vernon Hills! Meet Curious George and enjoy an exciting 45-minute free live show, perfect for children 2 to 7 years old, bringing to life the fun and learning from WTTW Kids’ most popular and beloved children’s shows. Kids will be encouraged to explore themes like emotions, life cycles, recycling, the natural world, and more as we learn about great children’s books that support the show’s themes!

This is a free event. For more information, please visit wttw.com/events.

Dame Myra Hess Memorial Concerts

Join WFMT each Wednesday for the Dame Myra Hess Memorial Concerts, live from Preston Bradley Hall in the Chicago Cultural Center. Enjoy solo recitals and ensemble performances by emerging classical artists from around the world, produced by the International Music Foundation. Featured artists this month include violinist Yun-Ting Lee and collaborative pianist Youn Jung Cha; Young Steinway Artist award-winning pianist Kimberly Han; saxophonist Hyong-Ryoul Kim and pianist Shin-Young Park; and pianist George X. Fu.

Performances take place beneath the world’s largest Tiffany-domed ceiling, part of a landmark building that originally housed the Chicago Public Library. The series is named for British pianist Myra Hess, who organized free lunchtime concerts for Londoners during World War II, in the years of nightly air raids.

These are free events; for information, please visit wfmt.com.

Thirsty Ears Festival 2019

WFMT invites you to an event that is billed as Chicago’s – and maybe the world’s! – only classical music street festival. The Thirsty Ears Festival returns for its fourth season, featuring food trucks, drinks, and vendors. Then, of course, there’s the requisite music, featuring such local groups as Chicago Ensemble, ~Nois Ensemble, Zafa Collective, and more. For kids, there will be an instrument petting zoo and designated Kidzone, and highlights of the Festival will include a special performance of Access Contemporary Music’s Sound of Silent Film Festival Saturday at sundown and, to close out the fest on Sunday, a performance of the original radio play 1001 Afternoons in Chicago.

A great way to introduce your family to classical music! $10 suggested donation.

Afternoon

12:00 Steven Raichlen’s Project Fire: Secret Steaks Bones? On it. Porterhouse? Got you covered. And, yes, we can handle a rib-eye. But how about upping your grill game with steaks you may not be familiar with, such as secreto or spinalis dorsi? The first is a secret and hyper-flavorful steak cut from a hog’s belly. The second features the most delectable part of a rib roast reborn as a steak, and you’re about to learn how to grill it with bourbon and a Catalan grilled vegetable sauce called romesco. Also: how to grill a brisket steak fragrant with sizzling shallot sage butter. Today on Project Fire: secret steaks!

12:30 Lidia’s Kitchen: A Seaside Buffet

Fish is a staple in Lidia’s kitchen, and she loves planning dinner parties based on seafood. Today’s menu includes swordfish skewers with a sweet and sour sauce, made with balsamic vinegar and bay leaves; and stuffed calamari with bread crumbs, hard-boiled eggs, grated cheese, white wine, and parsley.

1:00 Pritzker Military Presents: Peter Shinkle, Ike’s Mystery Man

2:00 Poldark Season 3 on Masterpiece (Part 6 of 7)

The Great War is over and the long-awaited engagement of Lady Mary and Matthew is on, but all is not tranquil at Downton Abbey.

Monday 5

Early Morning

12:00 Front and Center: Gary Clark Jr. Grammy and Blues Music Award winner Gary Clark Jr. performs material from his new album This Land, including the album’s title track and “The Guitar Man.” Dubbed “The Chosen One” by music critics, Clark Jr. created his personal trademark sound that features distorted guitar and heavy use of improvisation, paired with a soulful voice.

1:00 Speakeasy: Lenny Kravitz and Sean Lennon

Four-time Grammy Award winner Kravitz, a collaborator and mentor for Lennon since they played at the John Lennon tribute concert in the ‘80s, gets comfortable in conversation through their shared experiences of music, childhood, celebrity parents, and an appreciation of the power of positivity in creativity. Lennon’s detailed research and off-the-beaten path questions lead to some unexpected revelations including Kravitz’s early day classically trained in the California Boys Choir, his range of influences beyond the expected ‘60s sounds from the Carpenters to Gladys Knight, his high school “Bowiesque” sound.

Evening

4:00 Downton Abbey Season 3 on Masterpiece (Part 2 of 7)

The fate of Downton Abbey hinges on a letter from a dead man. Edith and Sir Anthony face their own fateful moment.

5:00 Downton Abbey Season 3 on Masterpiece (Part 3 of 7)

Two social revolutions are upon Downton Abbey: the Irish civil war and the fight for women’s suffrage.

6:00 Victoria on Masterpiece: Young England (Season 1, Part 7 of 7)

On the verge of delivering her first child, Victoria spurns advice and ventures among her subjects, attracting the devoted and demented alike. Miss Skerrett and Francatelli reach their decisive moment.

7:00 Poldark Season 4 on Masterpiece (Part 7 of 8)

The Warleggan’s domestic bliss comes under threat, and as Morwenna takes fate into her own hands, Ross and Demelza encounter deadly complications on their vacation.

8:00 Granchester Season 4 on Masterpiece (Part 4 of 5)

When Will asks for Geordie’s help with a family matter, Geordie is surprised to discover where Will really grew up: a house filled with secrets and lies.

9:00 Murder on the Home Front

When young women are found murdered amid the chaos of the London Blitz of World War II, brilliant Home Office Pathologist Dr. Lennox Collins, on his first murder case, and his newly recruited assistant Molly Cooper clash with the police over the main suspect.

10:30 Check, Please! Bacchanalai, Half Acre Taproom, Naoki Sushi [R]

11:00 Professor T: The Inspection (Part 3 of 13)

The murder of the chairwoman of the school’s inspection team during a robbery shocks the campus, yet Professor T is convinced the case is more complex than it appears.

Woodstock: Three Days That Defined a Generation – American Experience

Celebrate the 50th anniversary of the concert that became a touchstone for a generation. The film brings the three-day festival to life through the voices of those who were present at what became the defining moment of the counterculture revolution.

From Slavery to Glory

The life and legacy of America's first Black Catholic priest, Augustus Tolton (1854–1897), who was born into slavery, is seen through the eyes of university students. Fr. Tolton ministered in Quincy, Illinois against resistance from white clergy, and later in Chicago until his death in 1897. Bishop Joseph Perry reflects on Tolton's contributions to equality for African Americans and the cause for sainthood now pending in Rome.

Powerful Rachmaninoff from the Chicago Symphony
Sergei Rachmaninoff’s Symphony No. 1 in D Minor is relatively rarely performed. Its premiere, in St. Petersburg in 1897, was an abysmal failure that drove the composer into a bout with depression; the score was abandoned for many years, not to be revived until 1945. In the years since, it’s taken a somewhat more prominent place on symphony orchestra programs. Denmark’s Thomas Sondergård, principal conductor of the Royal Scottish National Orchestra, brought it to Chicago as part of a program that contains a much better-known example of Russian Romanticism, Tchaikovsky’s Piano Concerto No. 1, played by the Ukrainian-Australian virtuoso Alexander Gavrylyuk. Rachmaninoff’s Symphony No. 2 emerged about a decade later; its premiere was also in St. Petersburg, in 1908 with the composer conducting. Its unusual length led conductors for many years to impose cuts, but that practice has died out, and the work is now programmed in its entirety. It comes up on a broadcast concert to be led by Marin Alsop, one from earlier this year that features Hilary Hahn as the soloist in Sibelius’s Violin Concerto.

Conductor Carlos Kalmar and the Grant Park Music Festival have titled this concert Flight of the Bumblebee, but that famous tune is only a tiny part of what will be performed at Pritzker Pavilion in Millennium Park and broadcast live over WFMT. Amy Beach’s Variations on Balkan Themes was originally written for piano in 1904. The piece was inspired by a revolt in Macedonia against the rule of the Ottoman Empire. Visiting not long after the revolt was suppressed, a missionary friend of the composer’s brought back four folksongs from the Balkan region, which are the basis of the music. Nikolai Rimsky-Korsakov’s opera The Tale of Tsar Saltan is based on a fairy-tale poem by Alexander Pushkin. The rather fantastical plot has the hero – actually the Tsar’s son – magically turned into a bumblebee at one point; hence, “The Flight of the Bumblebee.” But the instrumental suite has lots of other delightful music, too. Finally, Kalmar and the orchestra perform Cowboy Rhapsody, a work by American composer-conductor-pianist Morton Gould that exists in two versions: orchestra and band. It quotes a number of familiar cowboy-related tunes, including “Home on the Range” and “Old Paint.” Dave Schwahn host the live broadcast.

WFMT resumes broadcasts of the weekly series hosted by Alec Baldwin, featuring current concerts plus retrospectives from the orchestra’s vast archives. Our first broadcast has for its main theme Heroes and Anti-Heroes in Strauss. Philharmonic soloists Frank Huang (violin), Cynthia Phelps (viola), and Carter Brey (cello) are featured in Don Quixote and Eine Heldenleben (A Hero’s Life) conducted respectively by Bernard Haitink and Alan Gilbert. Between these, we hear Phelps again, by herself, in Threaded Madrigals by British-American composer Oscar Bettison, a professor at Baltimore’s Peabody Institute. Bettison says he called his original sketches for this piece madrigals, then he put them together – or, thread them. His aim, he says, was to exploit the special sound of the viola – which, for him, has “a certain guileless melancholy.” Following in this new Philharmonic sequence will be Lenny’s Playlists, Part 1, a program mostly conducted by Leonard Bernstein of pieces particularly associated with him, including the Candide Overture, Chichester Psalms, a portion of Four Saints in Three Acts by Virgil Thomson, and a movement from William Russo’s Symphony No. 2, subtitled Titans.

More Bel Canto from Lyric Opera

Lyric’s 2016-17 season featured two major bel-canto tragedies of the early 19th century: Norma and Donizetti’s Lucia di Lammermoor. Like Norma, Lucia puts a special and challenging spotlight on the soprano who plays the title role. Lucia is unveiled into a forced marriage that will rescue her brother from bankruptcy and disgrace, but—a mannered by having been forced to renounce her true love—she kills her new husband and sings of her grief in an extended mad scene that holds her horrified wedding guests mesmerized (to say nothing of the audience). The highly acclaimed soprano Albina Shagmuratova portrays Lucia with Pietro Bizzaca as her lover, Edgardo, and Quin Kelsey as her brother, Enrico. Enrique Mazzola is the conductor.

Mitsuko Uchida

From Carnegie Hall: Mozart and Berg from the Mahler Chamber Orchestra

Serving as both soloist and conductor, Mitsuko Uchida joined the Mahler Chamber Orchestra at Carnegie Hall this past season to perform Mozart’s piano concertos K. 459 and K. 466. In between, the musicians performed Three Pieces from the Lyric Suite, arranged for string orchestra by composer Alban Berg from his six-work movement for string quartet. The dedication was to fellow composer Alexander von Zemlinsky, since Berg quoted from Zemlinsky’s Lyric Symphony. However, recent research has uncovered a kind of private dedication for the piece: to a woman with whom Berg was secretly in love. The movements he chose to orchestrate are perhaps revelatory; they’re titled “Andante Amoroso,” “Allegro Misterioso—Trio Estatico,” and “Adagio Appassionato.” Emotions aside, the Lyric Suite and its follow-up arrangement were among the first works Berg wrote following all the rules for serial (12-tone) composition devised by his teacher, Arnold Schoenberg.

Lyric’s Don Quichotte
Starring Ferruccio Furlanetto
Massenet’s Don Quichotte (Don Quixote) is not so well known as his Manon or Thais, but a number of operatic basses, including the legendary Féodor Chaliapin, have had special affection for the title role. A great operatic bass of our time, Ferruccio Furlanetto, shares this partiality; he came to Lyric to perform it during the 2016-17 season. With Sir Andrew Davis conducting, we hear him joined by baritone Nicola Alaimo as the faithful servant Sancho Panza and mezzo-soprano Clémence Margaine as Dulcinea – each fond of the Don in their own ways, yet vastly more realistic and practical than the “knight of the woeful countenance” created and immortalized by Miguel de Cervantes. Don Quixote has been an inspiration for musicians, writers, and painters since the early 17th century.
