ALSO INSIDE
On WTTW, we pay tribute to our veterans with WTTW’s annual special, The National Memorial Day Concert, live from Washington, DC and hosted by Chicagoans Joe Mantegna and Gary Sinise.
From the President & CEO

Dear Member,

When Memorial Day arrives, you know summer is just around the corner. WFMT will kick off the season in its own unique way with the second annual WFMT Beach Party live from Chicago’s lakefront. Join us at Fullerton Avenue and Lake Michigan for live performances, quizzes, conversation, and warm weather fun! And we will also pay tribute to our veterans with The National Memorial Day Concert, hosted by Chicagoans Joe Mantegna and Gary Sinise.

Also in May, WTTW brings you music on Friday evenings with an all-star salute to Gershwin Prize honorees Gloria and Emilio Estefan; and three Broadway stars – Cynthia Erivo, Annaleigh Ashford, and Megan Hilty – headline a series of concerts captured at the Appel Room overlooking New York’s Central Park. On wttw.com, hear from the Chicago-based winners of the James Beard Awards; revisit Chicago’s Pullman strike on its 125th anniversary; and delve into the true history behind Victor Hugo’s Les Misérables as it comes to its conclusion.

On WFMT, the Metropolitan Opera ends its 2018-19 matinee season with Verdi’s Aida and Poulenc’s Dialogues of the Carmelites. Renowned conductor James Conlon hosts Recovering a Musical Heritage to mark the Holocaust remembrance Yom HaShoah. And Chicago Tribune film critic Michael Phillips returns with a Memorial Day-themed edition of The Film Score. On wfmt.com, preview some upcoming summer musical events, check in on Facebook Live with performers at Ravinia Festival, and celebrate the moms in our lives with music for Mother’s Day.

This spring, thank you for your support of WTTW and WFMT.

Sincerely,

Sandra Cordova Micek
President & CEO

Meet Nature Cat at Evanston’s YEA! Festival
Meet Nature Cat at Evanston’s Raymond Park as part of Remake Learning Days Chi, the region’s first-ever hands-on festival for the future of work and learning.

All weekend long, this initiative will turn Chicago and Evanston into an open house learning laboratory through more than 100 fun and free events for youth of all ages at which families will experience new technology, art workshops, science experiments, student films, outdoor learning, and more! Nature Cat will be on hand throughout the morning to help showcase the work and performances of the YEA! (Young Evanston Artists) Festival, which promotes the value of arts education.

Leaps of Faiths – Screening and Discussion
WTTW, in partnership with the Chicago Department of Cultural Affairs and Special Events, presents a screening and discussion of the new local documentary Leaps of Faiths.

Love tests faith. Faith tests love. Interfaith marriage - how does that work? What about the in-laws? How to raise the kids? For 30 years, Catholics and Jews in Chicago have found that the answers don't have to be so hard - boundaries can be crossed and divisions healed. And the kids? This new film follows five who grew up learning both Judaism and Catholicism from 8th grade through high school, college, and beyond. Their families imagined possibilities and discovered them.

The screening will be followed by a panel discussion moderated by Brandis Friedman, Chicago Tonight correspondent and segment host.

This is a free event; for more information, please visit wttw.com/events.

Father Brown & Death in Paradise
Settle in for new episodes of these popular British mystery series. Based on the short stories by G. K. Chesterton, Father Brown follows a kindly and enigmatic cleric as he solves crimes in his quintessentially English village – as much invested in saving souls as in bringing the guilty to justice. Death in Paradise centers on a fish-out-of-water British detective, Jack Mooney, who has been charged with chasing down murderers with the quirky police force on the beautiful Caribbean island of Saint Marie.

Leaps of Faiths
Love tests faith. Faith tests love. Interfaith marriage - how does that work? What about the in-laws? How to raise the kids? For 30 years, Catholics and Jews in Chicago have found that the answers don’t have to be so hard - boundaries can be crossed - divisions healed. And the kids? This new local documentary follows five who grew up learning both Judaism and Catholicism from 8th grade through high school, college, and beyond. Their families imagined possibilities - and discovered them.

With Heart and Voice

Given the abundance of great Easter music, Peter DuBois couldn’t play enough of it in April, so he’ll play more this month. Following will be a dual-themed hour: celebrating Ascension Day, and honoring Memorial Day.

Sundays, May 19 and 26, 6:00 am

CSO Features Its Own Virtuosi

Soloists from the orchestra on Chicago Symphony broadcasts include concertmaster Robert Chen; brass artists Jay Friedman, Michael Mulcahy, Charles Vernon, and Gene Pokorny in music written for them; flutist Stefan Flanagan Høskuldsson; and trumpeter Christopher Martin.

Sundays, May 5, 12, 19, 26, 8:00 pm

Recovering A Musical Heritage

Currently music director of the Los Angeles Opera and principal conductor of the RAI National Symphony of Turin, Italy, James Conlon has had an international career that has taken him to the Metropolitan Opera, the Paris Opera, the Rotterdam Philharmonic, the city of Cologne, and the Cincinnati May and Ravinia festivals – he was Ravinia’s music director from 2005 to 2015. A constant interest has been the championing of musicians silenced, imprisoned, or killed under the Third Reich; for bringing this music to light he’s been recognized by the Anti-Defamation League, the Hebrew Union College-Jewish Institute of Religion, and the Zemlinsky Prize. Please join us to observe Israel’s Holocaust Remembrance Day, Yom HaShoah.

Live from WFMT: Instrumental and Vocal Chamber Music

Laura Strickling has performed numerous recitals and oratorio solos in New York City and Philadelphia. A Chicago native and 2012 resident artist at Ravinia’s Steinway Music Institute, Ms. Strickling has presented both concert classics and works of new music. Pianist Daniel Schlosberg, on the music faculty at the University of Notre Dame, is well known as both a solo and collaborative pianist, with a special interest in song accompaniment. Baird Dodge has been the principal second violinist of the Chicago Symphony since 2002. Both Mr. Dodge and Ms. Strickling, sharing as they do a particular commitment to contemporary music, have performed works by American composer James Matheson, and a Matheson song cycle will be on their upcoming Live from WFMT broadcast, along with music by Brahms, Britten, Messiaen, and André Previn.

Met Matinee Grand Finale: Dialogues of the Carmelites

Isabel Leonard and Karita Mattila are featured in the cast of Poulenc’s opera Dialogues of the Carmelites, which premiered at La Scala in Milan in 1957, but is set in Paris at the time of the French Revolution. The composer wrote his own libretto for the work, based on a screenplay that became a stage play, and a book from the 1930s whose English title is The Song at the Scaffold. In 1790s Paris, not only the royalty and the nobility were being attacked by the revolutionaries, but also the religious orders: nuns and priests. The Carmelite order that Sister Blanche (herself an aristocrat) has just entered is told it is to be nationalized and secularized; the nuns take a secret vote to offer themselves to the guillotine, but Blanche runs away in fear, only to find no refuge in her old home. She returns at the very end to rejoin her sisters as they go to their deaths singing the Marian hymn Salve Regina. The Met’s newly named music director, Yannick Nézet-Séguin, will conduct.

Midsummer’s Music Coming to Levin Studio

A tradition in Door County, Wisconsin, for over 20 years, Midsummer’s Music will visit Live from WFMT and preview this summer's performances. Drawing its members from the Lyric Opera of Chicago Orchestra, the Aspen Music Festival, and the Pro Arte Quartet, Midsummer’s Music will appear this year in a number of Door County venues between June 10 and July 15, plus Labor Day weekend. For WFMT's radio audience, the group will play Turina’s Scene Andalouse for strings and piano, Mozart’s Clarinet Quintet, and the Sextet in D for string quintet and piano by Mendelssohn. Kerr Frumkin hosts and Mary Mazurek engineers this concert from our Fay Klein, ob, Larry Combs, cl. Teldec 21482-2. [5:21]

Opera from London: New Miniseries from Royal Opera House

With the final Metropolitan Opera matinee performance taking place on Saturday, May 11, the WFTM Radio Network has joined with the European Broadcasting Union and the BBC to syndicate pre-recorded performances from the Royal Opera House Covent Garden. Our miniseries will start with Verdi’s final opera, the Shakespearean comedy Falstaff, based mostly on The Merry Wives of Windsor and starring Sir Bryn Terfel in the title role. Ana María Martínez as Alice Ford, and Simon Keenlyside as Ford. Nicola Luisotti conducts. Like the Metropolitan, and like Lyric Opera over the past few seasons, Covent Garden has been revisiting Wagner’s Ring cycle, and from these recent productions, we’ll be hearing Das Rheingold in late May. Lyric’s Wotan, the leading character in Das Rheingold, has been Eric Owens, and from the Met, we recently heard Greer Grimsley; the ROH Wotan, chief of the gods, is bass-baritone John Lundgren. The conductor is Sir Antonio Pappano. These performances from the Royal Opera House will last into mid-July, and will also feature Simon Boccanegra, La Forza del Destino, Billy Bud, and Andrea Chénier.

Saturdays, May 18 and 25, 12:00 pm

Janet Sung Leading a Live from WFMT String Ensemble

Sung, a graduate of Harvard University and the Juilliard School, teaches at Chicago’s DePaul University. She’s been a soloist with a number of American orchestras and has given the world premieres of works by Kenneth Fuchs and Augusta Read Thomas. Recital appearances have taken her to festivals from Aspen to Lucerne, and she’s also toured with Mark O’Connor’s American String Celebration. For the past several seasons, she has gathered a small group of string-playing friends to present concerts on Live from WFMT, and host Kerry Frumkin is delighted to be welcoming them all back again.
